Words From the Bishop - Deepen faith and witness - Scripture Reading

"In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God." John 1:1

Christians are a people of the book. Along with Jews and Muslims, we are identified amidst the world's religions as people particularly guided by our holy scriptures. Lutherans have a tradition of reverence for and familiarity with the Bible. It was Martin Luther who translated the Bible into the people's language (and got away with it. Others had tried before, and were executed!) Luther insisted that the Bible was to be read, not just by scholars and ministers, but by ordinary Christians. The Protestant Reformation produced an expectation that Christians would be biblically literate. The ideal was that families would read scripture together daily.

Our church's Confession of Faith includes:

"The canonical Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments are the written word of God. Inspired by God's spirit speaking through their authors, they record and announce God's Revelation centering in Jesus Christ. Through them, God's Spirit speaks to us to create and sustain Christian faith and fellowship for service in the world." (2.02)

In other words, Jesus is at the center of our lives and faith as Christians, and the Bible is one of the ways we learn more about Jesus, our faith and life.

A pastor recently wrote to me asking how we might revive the common practice of daily Bible reading and prayer in our congregations. It is a good question. When a child is baptized, the parents and sponsors are charged, among other things, to "place in their hands the Holy Scriptures." Implied in the charge is to open the Bible, read it, reflect on it, study it, teach it. Regularly. It is not a once-and-for-all thing. Baptism is. But reading scripture is not. It is an ongoing process.

The ELCA's Book of Faith Initiative, started in 2007 to encourage just that, has a slogan: "Open Scripture-Join the Conversation." It is a conversation-with the book, with fellow readers and seekers, with teachers, with learners, with God, with self.

In the Service of Ordination, the candidate is asked by the Bishop: "Will you be diligent in your study of Holy Scripture and in your use of the means of grace?" It is understood that the pastor will lead by example. Scripture reading is not just for pastors, and it is not just for sermon preparation. Scripture reading is an end in itself, a faith practice. And there are many ways to read Scripture respectfully.

Some people like to follow the lectionary, and daily readings set up in our worship resources. Some like to follow a devotional book that may or may not be lectionary-based. Some like a chronological approach-reading the Bible from beginning to end. Some like to focus on a particular book of the Bible for a particular season. There is no right or wrong way to read the Bible. Read it by yourself, but also read it with others. That way you will not get off track with an interpretation that really isn't there in scripture.

The Book of Faith Initiative recommends reading Scripture in a four-fold way: devotionally, historically, literarily, and theologically (Lutheran). Devotional reading is bringing your questions and experiences to the text. Historical reading looks at the original context of the text-when it was written, who was the audience, why was it written. Literary reading takes a hard look at the story, the form, the literary details. And reading with a Lutheran theological slant brings Lutheran principles and questions to the text.

In the Introduction to the Bible in the Lutheran Study Bible (Augsburg), Hans Dahl writes: "The Bible can also be described as a book of faith. That means three things. First, the Bible comes from faith. The Bible is a product of communities of faith who gathered the writings of authors inspired by God and regarded them as having authority as sacred Scriptures. Secondly, we are invited to read and study and listen to the Bible in faith. That means that we approach the Bible as a book of faith. Through it we are connected with all the people of faith-today and in the past. Finally, the Bible is written primarily for faith. The great story of God's love and the promises of new life found in the Bible are meant to be heard and shared. That means the Bible creates individuals and communities of faith for a purpose-so that the good news of God's love will be shared in both words and actions."

"And the Word became flesh and lived among us, and we have seen his glory, the glory as of a father's only son, full of grace and truth." (John 1:14)

Jessica Crist, Bishop

A reminder: Please send in your Rostered Leader reports to the Bishop ASAP. We have had a great response so far, so keep them coming!

What's new with the Synod Council?

The Synod Council met February 26-28, welcomed some new members, and took action on a number of items. Following are some highlights:

Synod House: The Synod Council voted to invite the ELCA Mission Builders to assist with the building of the Synod House the summer of 2017. Volunteer groups from congregations will be invited to join in throughout the summer. We are excited at this opportunity to build our house together. Watch for details.

Sabbatical Policy: The Synod Council reaffirmed the Sabbatical Policy for congregations, with a few modifications. Watch for the revised policy on the Montana Synod website.

Sexual Misconduct Policy: The Synod Council reviewed the misconduct policy, and reminds all rostered leaders and LPAs of their obligation to complete boundaries training.

Recommended 2017 Budget: The Synod Council has recommended to the Synod Assembly a budget for FY 2017. Watch for the budget with the Assembly materials.

Lutheran Disaster Response: Dick Deschamps, our LDR point person and new member of the Synod Council, highlighted some of the work of LDR. A disaster-preparedness workshop will be offered at the Synod Assembly.

Repudiation of the Doctrine of Discovery: The Council considered and recommended to the Assembly a memorial on the repudiation of the doctrine of discovery. Watch for details with Assembly materials.

Report from Wittenberg - Tonya Eza

Tonight as part of the seminar I'm attending in Wittenberg, Germany, the provost of the Church in Central Germany (Evangelische Kirche in Mitteldeutschland) came to speak with us about the situation of the church and plans for the 500th anniversary of the Reformation in Wittenberg next year. What he had to say about the situation of the church struck me as highly relevant to the situation of the mainline Protestant churches in the U.S.A., and I wanted to share some of his thoughts from his talk this evening.

Wittenberg was in the former German Democratic Republic (Communist East Germany) and now they are dealing with a society that is 3 or 4 generations unchurched. The provost said that people here "have forgotten that they have forgotten about God". But, there is great interest in the church and its activities. While this is a good sign, people do not want to become members of the church. This may have something to do with the church tax that members are required to pay, but it also reminded me of our "spiritual, but not religious" group in the U.S.A., or those who are "done" with church: they are interested in God and spirituality, but they don't want anything to do with membership in the institutional church.

The provost then addressed the question, "How do we communicate the significance of the Reformation to people who fall in this group?" Interestingly enough, the first thing he started with was a stewardship question. He suggested that in a society that is obsessed with accumulation, we should make the claim that all things, including ourselves, really belong to God. He asked the question, "What does justification (a very theological, church-y word) mean in a society that values accomplishment?" and then responded, "We should ask what it means to receive grace from a neighbor and to be a gracious neighbor." He asked the question, "What does it mean to be a beloved child of God?" and responded by talking about when there's a gap between the rich and the poor, we need to make the claim that all people are valued, no matter their status. Finally, he asked, "What does it mean to be a Lutheran church 500 years after the Reformation?" and in response talked about how, when people try to enter a Protestant church in Germany, most of the time the doors are locked if it's not regular office or tourist hours. He said that they had made the decision that beginning next year, all church doors must be open to symbolize the church being open to society coming in.

He had much more to say that I don't have the space to write about right now. But I felt that these were important questions with good responses that we, too, can be thinking about as we approach the 500th year of the Reformation next year. His responses are some ways we can make what Luther and the other Reformers taught in the 16th century relevant to people in the 21st century. If you would like to hear more about my experience in Wittenberg, please plan on participating in the workshop I will be leading at the Synod Assembly in June.

Chair of the Reformation 500 Task Force*

Congratulations on Grants Received!

Five entities in the Montana Synod were recently awarded domestic hunger grants from the ELCA. Zion Lutheran in Glendive received a grant for their Loaves and Fishes program. Family Promise of Great Falls received a grant, as did FISH of Great Falls. Flathead Lutheran Bible Camp received a development grant for "Growing Food and Kids." And the Poverello Center in Missoula received a grant for their Food Insecurity Program. These grants are all made possible by ELCA World Hunger funds.

A Mission Venture Capital Fund grant recently went to First English in Billings and Pastor Stacey Siebrasse to develop an older youth program in conjunction with Friendship House. The program also received a grant from Wheat Ridge. Mission Venture Capital Fund grants come from a fund in the Montana Synod designed to fund creative new ministry ideas. The campaign for the Synod House is tithed to the MVCF.

The Montana Synod also provides Wellness Grants, with funds provided by Portico as a response to our Synod's good response on the health assessment. While many grants support individuals' wellness, St. John's Lutheran Ministries in Billings and Pastor Elisabeth Daniels received a grant to provide massages to residents.

In April the Hetzel Foundation Board will award grants to ministry projects focused on the elderly and/or youth.

You can see, there are ways to fund ministry beyond the congregation! Thanks to all who make this possible.

ECUMENICAL INSTITUTE

Building an Interfaith Community- Summer Course 2016

The Ecumenical Institute at Bossey organizes once again the summer course on “Building an Interfaith Community” (now CAS in Interreligious Studies) meant to bring together young people from Christian, Jewish and Muslim communities for three weeks. This year the theme of the course is People and Faith on the Move: Migration in Judaism, Christianity and Islam and its residential component runs from 25 July - 12 August 2016.

Intended to contribute to the issues of religious pluralism and intercultural acceptance in a society based on migration and globalization, the CAS in Interreligious Studies aims at an international audience of young people (age between 20 and 35 years) interested in or are already engaged in inter-religious dialogue. These may be religious leaders, students, lay persons and professionals with a suitable level of religious literacy and/or experience in the field of interreligious dialogue and engagement, especially among the three Abrahamic religions. Bolivian Textiles

by Susan Leaverton

Textiles and fibers surround us constantly as an integral part of life. Our synod women's group of ten intrepid travelers immersed ourselves in Bolivian culture last August, visually feasting on sights that truly exemplify the connections of fabric to daily life for many women of this vibrant country. Clothing and textile arts of Bolivia excel in color, pattern and craftsmanship. Exotic llama and alpaca fibers are the norm for clothing construction.

Chico Registrations

Attached please find all of the information you need for the MT Synod Pastors Conference at Chico Hot Springs Resort. I'm sorry for any confusion about this. These documents have been posted on the Synod's website home page since Ash Wednesday. As I am on sabbatical right now, I neglected to follow-up and make sure these documents were e-mailed or mailed directly to each pastor from the Synod office (we know how hard they work and get overloaded!). I hope you all have found what you needed on the Synod website and are racing to get that discount for early registration. Lowell and Kathy are waiting for your registration form!

We will not be bringing copies of the schedule to the Conference to hand out, so bring your own hard copy or have it on your hand-held device. There will be copies posted for people to see.

Also, concerning our "book table" this year. If you will be bringing some to "share," bring them in a container of some sort (box, boxes, shoe boxes, brown bags, etc.) that is labeled with your name. That way it will be easier for you to identify your left-over books so that you can take them home with you!

Lenten blessings,

Synod House

February this year has an extra day - and that happens to be a Monday. For most of us, it is a work day. Consider contributing your income from that ONE day to the Synod House Campaign as a thank offering for the goodness that comes new to us every day.

What better way for us to approach those benchmarks of the Montana Synod as we faithfully serve God and our neighbor. To God be the glory.

Parish Papers Are Up

Previous news and notes:

Looking for Information

We have started looking at a different system for our hearing impaired members in worship. Currently we have four earpieces that people really don't like because they are uncomfortable, don't fit in their ears, or don't work with hearing aids. And four isn't really enough.

We just started looking at a hearing loop. Are there any Montana congregations who have installed one of those that we could talk with? Or do you know of any other options that might work better for our people?

Thanks,

Have You Taken Your Health Assessment?

The start of a new year reminds Portico health plan members and spouses to take their health assessments by logging into their My Portico accounts. Completion of the assessment earns you $150 in wellness dollars, with the opportunity to earn $250 more in follow up activities. Taking the assessment also helps the synod reach its 65% participation goal, saving your congregation 1% in health contributions.

Money Leadership: Your Life with Money

Money - how do we view and use it in our lives? What is the relationship between money and our Christian faith? Do we feel comfortable in our dealings with money, or does the topic make us nervous?

Money Leadership: Your Life with Money - is a six-week SELECT online learning course that will help us examine the attitudes and behaviors we have about money as Christians - and to become more comfortable and confident in thinking about and discussing this. Pastor George Karres, Director for Evangelical Mission of the Montana Synod, will be the facilitator.

Who should take this course? Pastors, as stewardship leaders in their congregations, will especially benefit from this - but LPAs, congregation treasurers, stewardship committee members, or anyone who would like to grow in their understanding of how Christians are called to view and use money in their lives are also encouraged to participate as well!

The course will be from April 10 - May 21, 2016 (with a pre-course Orientation online or phone meeting on April 7). The registration cost is $175, but a $100 rebate will be given to participants upon completion of the course - making the total cost only $75. Rostered leaders will also receive 18 continuing education credit hours from NRIT. Registration is limited to 12 persons.

For further information, click HERE or contact George Karres at 406-453-1461 or by email at gkarres@montanasynod.org.

Comprehensive Ministry Review

How is your congregation doing? Is it thriving and are its members filled with a sense of enthusiasm for doing God's work? Or is it just "going through the motions" as things seem to stay the same or decline?

Perhaps your congregation could benefit from a "Check-up" called a Comprehensive Ministry Review. This is a process offered by the Montana Synod that examines a congregation's health and ministry from a number of different perspectives - such as its pastor; lay leaders; looking at and listening to the community where it is located and serves; its facilities; history and trends, etc.

This process - led by a "Synod Review Team" consisting of the Director for Evangelical Mission and other MT Synod leaders - can help a congregation to gain new insights and also a renewed understanding of its purpose and mission for the context where it is located.

To learn more about the Comprehensive Ministry Review process and discern whether this might perhaps be for your congregation, contact Pastor George Karres - Director for Evangelical Mission - at 406-453-1461 or by email at gkarres@montanasynod.org.

Health Coverage Tax information

This year, for the first time, you'll need to report health coverage when you file your federal income tax return, or potentially pay a financial penalty (unless you had Medicare as your primary coverage). This new requirement is part of the Affordable Care Act (ACA); you may have heard it called the "individual mandate."

Portico is here to help. We're mailing you a tax form that serves as proof of health coverage. Here's what to do:

- Watch the mail for Internal Revenue Service Form 1095-B, Health Coverage. It shows the months that you and any covered family members had ELCA-Primary health benefits in 2015.
- Keep Form 1095-B for your records. You don't need to submit it with your 2015 tax return.
- Check a box on your 2015 tax return to indicate you had coverage.

If you have any questions, call Portico at 800.352.2876. They are there to help you navigate an ever-changing health care landscape, so you can stay focused on your ministry. 800.352.2876

New LPA Class - Fall 2016

2016-2018 Lay Pastoral Associate Class Nominations

Now is the time to consider lifting up individuals with the gifts and skills for the Montana Synod Lay Pastoral Associate program (LPA). The next class will begin in October 2016, but now is the time to be educating those in the congregation about the LPA program, and seeking their commitment.

The congregational meeting is a good opportunity to nominate and support those in your congregation who have the desire and skills to serve as an LPA in the Montana Synod. At this annual meeting the congregation can pray for and, with the guidance of the pastor, recommend individuals to the Bishop for approval.

For more information, go to the Montana Synod website or call Pr. Jason Asselstine, Associate to the Bishop.

Interested in becoming an LPA?

1. Talk to your church pastor. Talk about what it means to fill in for him or her and the traits it takes to provide pastoral leadership (albeit, temporary).
2. If your church does not have a pastor, feel free to contact our office. We'll put you in touch with someone who can shed some light on the role of an LPA.
3. Have your church pastor contact Bishop Crist or Rev. Jason Asselstine, Assoc. to the Bishop via email or phone call. This contact and conversation will be your pastor's recommendation for your participation in the MT Synod LPA program.

After approval from the Bishop (to enter the program), please ensure you have the following items to our Synod office at least 3 weeks prior to the class start date (our staff admin person will send you the paperwork to begin the process):

1. Completed biographical, information sheet.
2. Initiation of a required background check
3. First year's payment of $200 via check made out to "MT Synod" with "LPA training program" in the check's memo section. This can also be brought with you to the 1st group retreat.

Still have questions? Call our Synod office at 406-453-1461

SCHOLARSHIPS

We know that some churches are not able to provide the recommended amount of continuing education assistance and what is offered doesn't always go far enough. At the same time, we strongly believe in the importance of continuing education for our synod and we support the ELCA expectation of 50 hours of continuing education credits a year.

- Scholarships are now available to cover half the cost of NRIT events.
- Apply online or by leaving a message for Jenny at 406-453-1461.

*NRIT is grateful for financial gifts in support of this scholarship fund. Designate by writing "Jessica Crist Scholarship Fund" in the memo line.

The Luther 500

Lutherans and Catholics-what's the deal? 499 years ago the Church split-Lutherans went one way, and Catholics another. It was not an amicable parting of the ways. The stakes were high, and the religious issues were all tangled up with political issues. Mutual condemnations flew back and forth. Wars broke out. The lines were drawn between Protestant and Catholic.

And now, the Pope is coming to the 500th Anniversary of the beginning of the Reformation. Finnish Lutherans were able to receive communion at the Vatican, and the ELCA Churchwide Assembly will receive a document of agreement between Lutherans and Catholics outline 32 major area of agreement. What's the deal? Go to the Luther 500 page for a downloadable study on Lutherans and Catholics, and share it with your congregation, or with an ecumenical group.

The Luther 500

The Reformation 500 Task Force is looking for people to serve with our group. The only requirement is an interest in Reformation history and how the church is continually reforming. Many of our meetings are held via Google Hangouts so that very little lengthy travel is necessary, also helping to fulfill the first benchmark of the Montana Synod, "Meet the future boldly." If you would like to join our fun group, please contact Rev. Tonya Eza.

Help Plant a Tree in Wittenberg

"Even if I knew that the world were to collapse tomorrow, I would still plant my apple tree today."
(attributed to Martin Luther)

In anticipation of the 500th anniversary of the Reformation, the Lutheran World Federation in sponsoring "500 years of reformation-500 trees for Wittenberg." The Montana Synod has been asked to participate by donating a tree. A representative our reformation task force, Tonya Eza, will be present for the planting of the Montana Synod tree.

You are invited to participate by helping to raise the $500. that the tree will cost. You could:

- Dedicate a Lenten offering.
- Do a special appeal on Earth Day, April 20.
- Use it as a Sunday School, youth group, Bible Study group project.
- Do a special offering.

Send checks to Montana Synod with "Wittenberg tree" in the memo line.

In conjunction with the Montana Synod's third strategic benchmark, "Deepen faith and witness," the 2016 Synod Assembly and Theological Conference theme will be the 500th Anniversary of the Reformation. Yes, it's a year early, but this is part of how we meet the future boldly, so that when 2017 comes along, we will all be prepared! In conjunction with the Synod Assembly, the Reformation 500 Task Force is sponsoring a Reformation stole and banner contest. We invite the member congregations of the Montana Synod to bring original stoles and/or banners with them to the Synod Assembly in June. Following are the rules that we ask you to follow:

If you are making a stole:

- Stoles must be able to be worn while presiding over worship, and should be able to withstand 10 worship services (feel free to experiment with materials!).
- Stoles should be between 3" and 6" wide at the shoulder, and between 48" and 54" long.
 - o Be sure also to consider weight of stole and range of motion for the pastor in your design.

Stoles need to be appropriate for a liturgically red service

- o Red doesn't need to be the only color in the stole, but it should play a prominent role in the color palette of the stole.
- The stole should be your own original design - it is fine to use established patterns (provided they are not copy-written) as long as they are put together in your own way.

If you are submitting a banner:

- Banners should be appropriate for display in a worship context
 - o The size of the banner should be able to fit comfortably within the dimensions of your sanctuary.
- Banners should be of an original design. You may use established patterns (provided they are not copy-written) as long as they are put together in your own way.

Please bring the stoles and banners with you to the Synod Assembly, and they will be displayed in a place where everyone can see. Assembly attendees will vote on their favorites.

Questions? Please contact Rev. Tonya Eza, chair of the Reformation 500 Task Force, or any of the other members of the group.
